BRITAIN SEEKS WHITE DEFENSE PACT ON PACIFIC

Promises Congress Resolution.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—Asserting that Japan is openly preparing for war, presumably on the United States, Representative Fred A. Britten (Rep., Ill.), speaking at a dinner here tonight, announced that he would introduce a resolution in the house tomorrow authorizing the President to call a conference of the white peoples of the Pacific to promote a better economic, commercial and political understanding and to prepare for the common defense against encroachment of the yellow races.

Earlier in the day the proposed investigation of the condition of the American navy was squelched in both houses of congress, Mr. Britten saying, however, that he would renew the movement for an inquiry in connection with a three year building program he will propose.

Quoted Tribune Editorial.

The dinner at which Mr. Britten, acting as toastmaster, proposed the Pacific conference, was given by the Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, and Los Angeles chambers of commerce to the Pacific coast delegations in congress. Mr. Britten began by reading a Tribune editorial published on Nov. 23 advocating such a conference in view of Japan's war preparations.

"The attitude of Japan before the league of nations and in Japan itself in opposition to certain cherished principles of America is justification for my resolution," said Mr. Britten. "Japan's open preparation for war is a reason why the white peoples surrounding the Pacific ocean should have a definite defensive policy for their mutual protection, and the quicker this is done the better."

To Be Held Outside U. S.

"Australia already has indicated her desire to participate in any movement which might be called for her future protection and benefit and it might be well to call this conference either in Australia, Canada, or even Honolulu, so as to take it away from the political machinations of the District of Columbia."

"Influential Japanese newspapers recently objected to the maneuvers of the United States navy in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands, Australia or the Philippines notwithstanding the fact that the Japanese navy is maneuvering constantly in waters far from Japanese territory."

"A conference called for the purpose of promoting a solidarity of the white peoples of the Pacific will discuss not only ways and means for promoting a better economic, commercial and political understanding among them but will of course give serious consideration to the national defenses of each country."

The fact that the white peoples have agreed to support each other in the event of an emergency will have the greatest psychological effect upon Japan."

Navy Investigation Off.

In conformity with the attitude of the President the house naval affairs committee called off the investigation of the condition of the navy which was to have begun today.

Word was sent by Chairman Thomas S. Butler (Rep., Pa.) to Representative Britten, at whose request Secretary of the Navy Wilbur had been invited to attend, that the public session had been called off and that an executive session would be held instead, without the presence of Mr. Wilbur.

The session was stormy. Chairman Butler being backed in his stand against an investigation by Representatives George F. Darrow (Rep., Pa.), and Carl Vinson (Dem., Ga.), ranking Democrat in committee as well as by a majority of the other members present. Britten had two Democratic on his side of the controversy—Representatives James H. McChesney (Okla.) and Patrick H. Drewry (Va.).

While the senate naval affairs committee will not meet until Friday to take up the King resolution for a joint congressional investigation, it is generally understood the resolution will be killed in committee. Senator Hale (Neb., Rep.) is strongly opposed to the King plan and the majority of the committee are with the administration in the matter.

BAN JOHNSON IS TAMED; ASKED NOT TO RESIGN

League Crisis May Now Be Over.

A committee of American league club owners consisting of Connie Mack, Tom Shibe, and Clark Griffith was named last night to call on President Johnson this morning, presumably to ask him not to resign.

The members of the committee would not reveal the exact purpose of their visit, but said that they felt that President Johnson was needed in the national game and should not forsake it as a result of the present controversy.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY. (Pictures on back page.)

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, former United States judge, will stick to his job as high commissioner of baseball.

After a hectic and epochal day in the history of our national game, the gray haired boss of the sport, decided to remain when seven of the American league club owners adopted a resolution and presented it to him at the joint meeting of the two major leagues yesterday, assuring him that hereafter, Ban B. Johnson, their president who has a contract which runs for another half dozen years, has been thoroughly bound and gagged.

Ban Johnson still is president of the American league though an amendment to the major league agreement was adopted which gives each league the power to elect its representative on the advisory board which previously had consisted of the commissioner and the presidents of the two major leagues.

Cast Johnson Aside.

The American league cast its president aside and elected Frank J. Navin, their vice president and owner of the Detroit club as its representative to act with Commissioner Landis and President Heydler of the National League.

Johnson still is president of the American league and may continue to be as long as his contract lasts, providing he is not guilty of misconduct in which case, the seven American league men who voted against him, promise his immediate removal from office. He still is president but by the adoption of the resolution, his activities are to be confined entirely to internal affairs, and legislation is to be adopted to limit him to such. Even then, the resolution assured the commissioner that any and all measures which he might deem advisable to secure such a condition would be adopted by the league.

Big Victory for Commissioner.

It was a tremendous victory for Commissioner Landis, who has maintained absolute silence over since Mr. Johnson gave out an interview during the world's series in which he proposed to begin a general cleanup of the game with the idea of driving Landis out of the game, of driving the owners of the New York Giants out of the game and attempting to put the sport under federal control. It was in that interview that he referred to Landis as a wild-eyed crazy nut.

Landis never replied to that story, but there were strong indications that he would quit baseball rather than continue if it was necessary for him to stand for such unwarranted attacks. The baseball men, the men who have money invested in clubs not only in the majors, but in the minors, saw a crisis at hand if the former judge, whose chief asset in life is his honesty, should walk out on them.

Fear Public Opinion.

They had begged him to come in four years ago when the game was in a precarious condition following the exposure of the Black Sox. They wondered what the public would think now if he felt compelled to quit. They realized that the public likes to see them drive the crooks out of the game, but they feared what the public would think if the honest men were driven out.

But Ban Johnson has been president of the American league ever since its inception in 1900. He went through those crucial times of 1900, 1901, and 1902 when they were warring with the National league. He brought the American league through with flying colors.

NAME 2 JUDGES IN BOND TANGLE

Fur Theft Charge Fails to Hold Three Women.

Chicago furriers, members of the Associated Fur Industries, became aroused yesterday when it was learned that bonds supplied for three women accused of extensive fur thefts apparently were nothing but scraps of paper that could be forfeited if the women failed to appear.

The case of the three—Clara Soph, Sadie Cohen, and Alice Stein—was called before Chief Justice Jacob II Hopkins of the Criminal court at the instance of Milwaukee furriers who had lost through thefts and wished to attempt an identification of the women.

When the women failed to appear Judge Hopkins promptly ordered their bonds forfeited, and then it was learned there apparently was nothing to forfeit. Written against the "Schedule ex bonds" were the words "Schedule ex bonds of the Municipal court."

Two Judges Named.

Immediately Judge Jacob's share in the proceedings became of interest to the furriers, while the name of Judge Francis B. Allegretti also was brought in.

"If the judges keep up this kind of work," said I. C. Greenburg, secretary of the fur association, "we'll all have to go out of business or else have several policemen stationed constantly in our stores."

Just how Judge Jacob entered the proceedings has not been made clear. The three women were declared to have been caught while purloining furs valued at $1,600 on Nov. 1 in the store of Louis Himmel & Sons at 435 West 63d street.

Get Bonds Almost at Once.

At the Englewood police station they obtained bonds almost immediately and the matter was placed on Judge Allegretti's call. The prosecuting witnesses were present for a hearing, but the defendants were not.

"I tried to get Judge Allegretti to forfeit the bonds, but he would not," said Mr. Greenburg. "He continued the case. Finally I learned the women waited around the corner where we so they could come in if the judge was disposed to forfeit the bonds."

MORS' THREATS TO SLAY MCCOY BARED BY NOTES

'Keep Moral Leper Away,' Word to Kid's Kin.

BY GEORGE SHAFER.
Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—"I ask you to find out from your moral leper of a brother-in-law what amount of cash he would take to have my wife alone. . . . Otherwise insanity and death, murder and suicide may result."

These are excerpts from two letters written by Albert A. Mors to Roy McCoy, now on trial for the murder of Mrs. Mors, which were read into the court record today. Admission of the notes, sensational in detail, was ordered by Judge Charles Crall following a two hours' debate between counsel in chambers, after the prosecution had closed its case.

State Battles Admission.
The state bitterly battled the admission, which is recognized as a strong point for the defense, which is hinting that the woman in the triangle was slain by her legal husband and not by her pugilist lover.

"I believe in my wife," Mors wrote at one point. "I have known her for seventeen years—a curious mixture of saint and sinner, but the saint predominates. . . . If he will stay away from her I may win her back. If, however, he shows the beast as I suspect he is, God knows what will result."

Kid After Her Money.
The first letter, written June 2, 1924, from San Luis Obispo, reads:

"Dear Sir: Since writing my letter of yesterday a new thought has occurred to me. Now it is obvious that your brother-in-law has acquired a great influence over my wife. It is also clear what his motives are. I do not believe, infatuated as she is, she will ever marry him. I am convinced she will find him out before they can get married, which is one year."

"If, however, she should be so far gone mentally, and marry him, then I am absolutely convinced he would not get any community property, which is all that he is after. She would be her natural self again when her interests are exposed to any danger or risks from this direction. Besides, before this affair is over, she may be stone broke."

Mixture of Sinner, Saint.
"Now I am influenced by quite other motives. I believe in my wife. I have known her for seventeen years. A curious mixture of saint and sinner, but the saint predominates. Knowing her by and her record, which is an open book, I quite frankly ask you to find out from him what amount of cash he would take to leave my wife alone."

"I am simply doing this because at heart your moral leper of a brother-in-law covets his neighbor's chattels as the ten commandments expressly prohibit. However, he has broken every law, human and divine, and so I don't suspect this offer of mine will occasion him any qualms except cupidity."

"Otherwise, insanity and death, murder and suicide may result. I am simply offering to buy him off his prey. At $1 he, probably cowardly, realizes his inability to make a living, and seeks this way of providing for his future."

"Please telegraph or write me care Palace hotel, San Francisco."

"A. ALBERT MORS."

Warns McCoy Away.
The second letter from Santa Barbara, June 14, says:

"Mr. Roy Davis, brother-in-law of McCoy, Los Angeles, Cal.:

"Dear Sir: Before I receive reports that your brother-in-law comes to my store to fasten his illicit friendship with my wife. I beg you to warn him away. His ilk is not wanted. If I hear he has been there I will go to Sacramento to see the governor of the state on the grounds that he is an undesirable citizen because of his immorality."

"If any one comes into your home in the guise of friendship and made professional love to your wife you would probably do more than I."

May Win Her Back.
"If he will stay away from my wife, who has always been a decent, God-fearing woman, I may win her back. If, however, he shows the beast as I suspect he is, God knows what will result."

"You are the responsible head of the house and his family, so I beg you to call him away, else I may be forced to kill him for betraying my home and dishonoring my hearth. You can use this letter against me. I will go to the district attorney with you and even sign whatever is necessary to commit myself to the unwritten law."

Mors Not Called.
The prosecution closed its case without calling Mors to the stand. Attorneys announced that he might be called to testify in rebuttal.

The sudden closing of the prosecution took the defense by surprise and attorneys for McCoy obtained a recess in which to rearrange their program.

The alleged statement of McCoy to police after the discovery of the body of Mrs. Mors was read. The statement related McCoy's story that Mrs. Mors shot herself after he had succeeded in preventing her from stabbing herself with a bread knife.

After the tragedy, the statement said, McCoy's "lights went out," his memory became hazy and he contemplated suicide, "since the only woman I ever loved was dead."

Moron Seizes Two Women; They Scream; He Escapes
A moron attempted to drag Mrs. Lillian Piplanski, 5524 North Keystone avenue, into an alley near Keystone and Sunnyside avenues yesterday. She screamed for help and he fled. A few minutes later a man of the same description attempted to drag Miss Dorothy Sedenssen, 4133 North Tripp avenue, into a yacht lot near her home. Her screams brought neighbors to her help, but the man again eluded pursuit.

THOUSANDS VIEW
GOMPERS' BODY
LYING IN STATE

Asphalt Sarcophagus for Casket.

New York, Dec. 17.—The body of Samuel Gompers, in its bronze casket, lay in state at the Elks' club today and tonight, while thousands filed by in silent tribute. Tomorrow burial will take place in Sleepy Hollow cemetery in Tarrytown.

Those who joined the crowd that went to the club saw a building of many stories draped in black from top to bottom. They saw a huge assembly hall, its balconies and stations dimmed by purple drapery; an honor guard of veteran unionists standing by the casket; hundreds of floral tributes. Near the casket were the crossed antlers and Bible, the Elks' symbol of sorrow.

Widow and Family Arrive.
All day and far into the night the slow procession of men and women moved through the dimness of the room of state. The labor leader's widow, his sons, daughters, grandchildren and brothers, joined the throng late in the afternoon when Mrs. Gompers arrived from Washington.

Final arrangements for the services were completed with the announcement that an asphalt sarcophagus, provided by labor unions at Baltimore, had been transported from that city to Sleepy Hollow cemetery to receive the casket.

Union Men to Rest Two Minutes.
The central trades and labor council of Greater New York ordered all union men to lay down tools for two minutes at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, at which time it is expected the funeral cortege will start for Tarrytown, after a two hour service at the Elks' club.

Services at the grave will be conducted by St. Cecilia Masonic lodge of New York City. At the Elks' club the ceremonies will be presided over by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and James Dunne, senior vice president of the American Federation of Labor. The Elks' ritualistic ceremonies will be observed. The services at the club will be broadcast.

OFFICIAL SHOOT AND KILLS SELF IN WAREHOUSE

Solomon Feuchtelmer, secretary of the Lincoln Warehouse company, shot and killed himself yesterday in a spell of despondency, members of his family told the police last night. His body, with bullet wounds in the stomach and head, was found near the elevator shaft on the seventh floor of the warehouse at Drexel boulevard and 43d street.

Police believe Feuchtelmer intended to cause his body to fall down the shaft after firing the first shot as the elevator door was left open. Apparently falling in that attempt, he fired a second shot into his head.

A note addressed to his wife convinced business associates he intended suicide. This note, found in his desk drawer, contained the number and combination of his safety box, a roll of bills, and instructions regarding the handling of a number of business matters.

Mr. Feuchtelmer was 55 years old and lived at the Madison Park hotel, 1330 Hyde Park boulevard. He had been operated upon recently, it was stated, and since then has not been in good spirits. His widow and two sons, Richard and Henry, survive.

BRIBERY CHARGE MAY END POSTAL EMPLOYEES' HOPES

Allege $2,600 Was Paid to Aid Pay Increases.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—The shadow of a bribery scandal thrust itself across the legislative path of the postal employees' pay increase bill today and threatened to block its passage over President Coolidge's veto. Although an agreement was entered into to vote finally on the veto on Jan. 8 there are strong indications that sensational developments expected during the next twenty-four hours will have a deterrent effect on the attempt to override the President's objections to the measure.

Charges Hit Senate Employee.
Charges have been filed with the department of justice that one of the senate employees received $2,600 to use his influence in promoting passage of the postal employees' pay increase bill. Evidence has been presented showing that an arrangement was entered into for the payment of $10,000 for the use of influence in connection with the bill. An arrest is promised tomorrow.

Whether the case will be pushed on charges of bribery or on sale of influence remains to be determined. Likewise, it remains to be decided whether steps are to be taken against those who are alleged to have paid the money.

Hope to Override Veto.
Ardent friends of the bill insisted that the impending scandal would have no effect on the passage of the bill over the President's veto. Others were of the opinion that it would prove to be the death blow to the measure.

Meanwhile, President Coolidge is exerting all the influence he can bring to bear to sustain his veto.

An agreement was entered into in the senate today, with the consent of all factions, to take up the postal pay veto on Jan. 8 and to vote on it finally not later than 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Jan. 8.

Now and then we happened to pick up a stray sentence or two out of the air saying something about Maj. Martin being lost. The melancholy part of it all, from our point of view away over there in the Kuriles, was that the 120 miles an hour gale had passed on, leaving in its wake the most gorgeous, clear weather imaginable. It was ideal for flying, and we were hoping they would come through before another gale blew up. Poor Capt. Frost spent sleepless nights worrying about all of this marvelous weather going to waste."

"Suddenly a message came in from Lowell Smith."

"Will you go to Kronotski and reconnoiter for possible landing places?"

"That was all it said."

"Out came the charts, and we located the Gulf of Kronotski, way up on the coast of Kamchatka."

"Will not enter Russian waters under any circumstances except to rescue a plane," was Capt. Frost's reply, adding that the weather was superb and hinting we were all fed up waiting for them."

"Pick Up Mystery Message."

"Sixteen hours later back came an irregular radio from Smith setting forth how fully they realized the hardships Capt. Frost and his men were experiencing, expressing the sympathy of himself and companions, and adding that they would certainly make a special point of getting through as soon as possible, as they had no intention of remaining permanently in the Aleutians."

"Thursday passed, but no further word came through. Friday morning we picked up a mysterious message out of the air that was passing between the Riders and the Haida. Up to this time we had often been able to hear the Haida, but never before had we caught the responses from the Riders. This meant that she must be quite near us and that the boys were getting ready to hop off from Attu."

"All day Friday and into Friday night passed; still not a word. Saturday morning, the 15th, it was bitter cold and snowing and sleeting again. You can imagine how disgruntled everybody on board was after waiting a month, after having had a period of perfect weather without the flyers attempting to get through, and then to see storms settling in again."

"The Thrill of His Life."

"Well, they won't come today," we said, and at 11:30 I was up in the radio room sending a message to my Tokyo office urging them to try their best to keep the flight story alive in the American newspapers, as the aviators were at Attu and might make the flight over the Pacific by Monday."

"Just as I had finished flashing this to Tokyo I heard some one shout, 'There they come!'"

"Jumping to the door and looking out, I saw three sailors standing opposite the starboard rail looking to the south. And there, sure enough, coming from the south instead of from the north, were three planes."

"They had just appeared out from behind a cloud."

"Believe me, that sight was the thrill of my life. I have been in the newspaper game for twenty years and as a result of this some of my friends think me hard-boiled. But after waiting up there on the edge of the Arctic for weeks and weeks just for this event, and then to see these world cruisers appear unexpectedly from behind a cloud and realize you were witnessing the arrival of the first men to ever reach Asia from America by air—yes, I'll admit that it sent the thrills up and down my spine."

"And, judging by the way they whooped and yelled, it seemed to thrill the honorable Japanese as well."

"Up near Vixen With Volcano."

"There they were, safe and sound, flying in a perfect triangle formation. Pandemonium broke loose in the Kurile islands that morning. No report to equal it had been heard since the last volcano erupted in this vicinity."

"Col. L. C. Broome, advance representative for the British, round the world flight, had been through shortly before on a Canadian trawler, and had placed a supply dump and a buoy a short distance off across Kurile strait, near the shore of Shimushu island."

"Smith sighted Broome's buoy, and, owing to the direction of the wind at that moment, he knew it was a much more desirable landing place than where our three buoys were in Kashiwabara bay. So he landed there, thinking that Nelson and Wade would follow, and that the destroyers would then transfer the moorings. But, despite the high sea, an adverse wind, and sheets of mist, the Boston and New Orleans came down near us."

"The World Is Told."

"As soon as I saw the planes I jumped into the radio room. I had to be quick in order to avoid breaking our agreement with the commanding officer of the Japanese destroyer. He had asked us to promise that from the moment the flyers touched the water until thirty minutes had passed we would send out no radio messages. He figured this would enable him to announce to the world the news of the completion of the first Pacific flight. But before the boys were out of the air I shouted to the radio operator to tell that last message of mine and kill that."

"Urgent, Kokushu, Tokio, and Associated Press, San Francisco. Flyers arrived Kashiwabara Bay, 17th, at 11:30."

"As a matter of fact, they touched the water at exactly 11:37. But in those two seconds I had scored a world-beat for the Associated Press."

"Then, of course, the radio operator the Ford had to shut down for this minute while the Japanese destroyers were notifying the war office in Tokyo. But before they gave the news"

Guided by Volcanoes

to the other press organizations in Tokyo, my radio had reached San Francisco and been flashed all over America.

Rides Deck Aviators.

"A few minutes later the boys came on board, half frozen, wet to the skin, and with icicles hanging from their noses. It was not yet noon, and I knew that it was practically 900 miles from where we were to Attu, in the Aleutians, so I said to Jack Harding, 'You don't want to stand there with icicles dripping from your beard and try to bamboozle me into thinking you have flown 800 miles in five and a half hours, do you?'"

"O, no," rejoined Jack. "We stopped over night at the Komandorski and started this morning from Nikolai bay."

"Realizing this might result in diplomatic complications between Moscow and Washington, I told the boys I was willing to radio any sort of reasonable story that suited them, and it was finally agreed I should reveal to the world how they had been blown off their course to Nikolai. But on second thought we saw that any one reading such an account would wonder just how it happened that, when the flyers got blown off their course, they were so fortunate as to have their forced landing near a remote Russian island right alongside an American boat, loaded with special gravity gasoline made only for use in airplanes."

Leave Russians in Lurch.

Regarding the interesting tale of how the world flyers visited the Russian islands where they had not been supposed to land, they relate:

"Erik Nelson and Jack Harding told me the morning they came on board the Ford at Kashiwabara bay that Smith and Wade had gotten into the air a little ahead of them at Nikolai. Erik had some trouble getting his motor started."

"Suddenly he saw the Russians approaching him in a boat. He was afraid they might be coming over with orders from Moscow to arrest the members of the flight, and he was uneasy, because his motor balked. But, just when the Russians were twenty-five feet from him the motor kicked over and started off with a roar. So he taxied right by them and left their little boat tossing about in the waves left by his pontoons."

"When the airman had changed clothes and thawed out on board the Ford, the first thing they did was to reply by wireless to the cordial greetings sent across the bay by the commander of the two Japanese destroyers. The weather was too rough for any personal visits that day."

Congratulated by Weeks.

That afternoon a radio came through from Washington that was much appreciated by the flyers after their long journey from the Aleutian Islands to Japan:

Kashiwabara, Paramushiro, Kurile Islands, Japan: Congratulations. Yours is the honor of being the first to cross the Pacific by air. Through its army and navy our country has the honor of having led in the crossing of both great oceans. The army has every faith in your ability to add the circumnavigation of the globe to its achievements. [Signed]

JOHN W. WEEKS,
Secretary of War.

Then, as the boys sat around the ward room on the Ford they told Capt. Frost and his associates of their flight across the Pacific, their eventful night in the Komandorski, and their spectacular flight over the peninsula of Kamchatka.

Regarding this latter, of which we have not yet heard, they described how they had crossed the Gulf of Kronotski and Cape Shipunski and then suddenly encountered a curious layer of fog that obliterated the earth, but only extended up to an altitude of 500 feet. Above the fog the weather was perfectly clear. So all the way down Kamchatka they flew above it, but only came yesterday when Julius Wodiska, New York jeweler, sued the hotel in the United States District court for $100,000.

George W. Jordan, Albany, N. Y., salesman for Wodiska, checked his display of jewels in the Palmer house vaults on March 14, while he called on his friends. It is alleged that when he received the bag late that night bricks had been substituted for the gems. Hotel clerks, questioned at the time, could give no clue to the alleged robbery.

Volcanoes as Sign Posts.

These lofty volcanoes appeared on their maps with such unpronounceable names as Koryatskaya, Vilyuchinskaya, and Povortnaya. Otherwise it would have been difficult for them to realize they were not still flying along the coast of Alaska.

Although they could see neither the ocean nor the terrain beneath, these volcanoes loomed up like Arctic sign posts to tell them where they were. As they flew close to one towering peak there was nothing to break the perfectly smooth surface of the snow excepting a lone track down the mountain which, they imagined, must have been made by one of the giant bears for which Kamchatka is famous.

A hundred miles south of Cape Shipunski the fog suddenly stopped, as though sliced off with a knife.

Goodby to Arctic Circle.

But in front of them, at an altitude of 2,000 feet, was another bank of it, and from there on to the Japanese island, Shimushu, their flying ceiling grew lower and lower until finally they were just skimming the water with their pontoons. The fog cleared again as they turned and flew toward Kashiwabara bay on Paramushiro.

FORBES BEGINS DEFENSE ON U. S. GRAFT CHARGES

Judge Rules Against the Defendant's Pleas.

Government attorneys late yesterday presented the last of fourteen witnesses in the veterans' fraud conspiracy case against Col. Charles R. Forbes and John W. Thompson, and after a futile effort by the latter to obtain an immediate verdict of not guilty the defense began. It is expected to take ten days.

In addition to Judge George A. Carpenter's refusal to order a verdict of innocence, he also denied a motion by Forbes' attorney to strike out Guthrie beat and Colombian syndicate testimony by Elias H. Mortimer and a second motion for Thompson to strike out documentary evidence declared to have been obtained illegally.

Odia and Ends Cleanup.
Presentation of the defense's first witness, Miss Augusta V. Landis, veterans' bureau clerk, followed a day in which the government cleaned up odds and ends of testimony against the two defendants. Another story of the party in a New York hotel in which Mrs. Mortimer, Thompson, Mortimer, and the Larimore sisters, actresses, took part was offered by Magill Connor, last federal witness.

Letters and telegrams seeking to connect the defendants with illegal awarding of contracts were put into the record by Washington clerks and stenographers.

A last minute race to enter a bid of the Pontiac Construction company on the Northampton project, was detailed by Miss Landis—who said she was not related to Judge Keneaw Mountain Landis.

She testified that a breathless young man raced into her office at Washington in the veterans' bureau on the morning of July 3, 1922, and handed her a sealed envelope.

Sent to Wrong Department.
Because the envelope was not marked personal Miss Landis opened it and when she saw the war department mentioned turned it over to Maj. John McDonnell.

Dr. Thomas Hughes Scott, head of the Veterans' hospital in Muskogee, Okla., testified earlier that at one time Forbes said he would recommend Scott as successor to Forbes' job in case the latter quit. Scott identified telegrams and said others must have been in code because he couldn't read them.

"After Forbes left," testified Magill Connor of the New York hotel party, "Mrs. Mortimer proposed a crap game. We played for fifteen or twenty minutes."

This gathering, in the Ambassador hotel, was a social affair pure and simple, he explained. Then the government rested.

ACT TO PROBATE $1,000,000 WILL OF M'CLINTOCK

Seven Cousins Only Living Kin.

Steps seeking the admission to probate of the will of William N. McClintock, the millionaire orphan, were taken yesterday by Attorney William D. Shepherd, the youth's foster father and chief beneficiary of his $1,000,000 estate.

Testimony was given before Assistant Probate Judge Frederick W. Elliott as to the surviving natural heirs. Seven first cousins were named by Mr. Shepherd as the only living relatives. After Mr. Shepherd had given the cousins' names, Assistant Judge Elliott continued the hearing until Feb. 13. Meanwhile the heirs may file objections, if they see fit, to the admission of the will.

Tragic Romance Recalled.
This will left the entire estate to Shepherd, with the provision that an annuity of $5,000 should be paid to Miss Isabelle Pope, McClintock's fiancée. Shortly before the youth's death Miss Pope obtained a license to wed him, but when she returned to his bedside he had sunk into unconsciousness and the ceremony never was performed.

The cousins, six of whom live in Ottumwa, Ia., have employed Attorney Orville Dwyer to investigate the circumstances of the will. Should the facts warrant it, it was indicated, the cousins would contest the will and seek their share of the estate.

Mrs. Shepherd first sought to give the list of heirs to Assistant Judge Elliott, but failed to remember their names. She was taken into the court's chambers to refresh her memory and again took the witness stand. When she still was unable to name the seven, Mr. Shepherd took the stand and supplied the list.

Here Are Seven Cousins.
The cousins are William J. Eaton, Viola Eaton, Ira P. Eaton, Charles Eaton, Archibald Eaton, and Mrs. Maude Walker Eaton of Ottumwa, Ia., and Mrs. Minnie Kersten of Texas.

After Mr. Shepherd's testimony Judge Elliott directed that the heirs be notified, and continued the case. No effort has been made as yet to prove the authenticity of the will. Mr. Shepherd is expected to produce witnesses proving that when McClintock signed it he was of sound mind.

ELSIE WILL TELL JURY HER STORY OF POISON TODAY

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—Christopher Columbus Sweetin, the father-in-law that Elsie Sweetin adopted as "the only dad she'd ever known," late today closed the state's case against Elsie and her former pastor lover, Lawrence M. Hight.

The aged man, known in Ia. as "Old Lum," with tears and compassion and sorrow, but never bitterness in his voice, told the jury that Elsie told him one night in the Salem jail that she had given him his son, her husband, arsenic three times, and that each time it was furnished to her by Hight, with a note urging her on.

Elsie to Take Stand.
At the close of his testimony, Attorney R. E. Smith, counsel for Mrs. Sweetin, conferred with his client, after which he called a number of character witnesses. They testified that Elsie's life, until she met the philanthropic Methodist minister, had been that of a blameless wife and mother. Then the lawyer announced that she will take the stand in her own defense tomorrow.

It was a day of ordeals for Elsie Sweetin. First her 11-year-old son was forced to testify against his mother. She wept bitterly as the son said that "Pastor Hight had visited his mother many times." She wept again when Columbus Sweetin was on the stand and she was still weeping when the old man stepped heavily off the witness stand and slumped into a chair to join her in her tears.

"Old Lum" Weeps.
Old Columbus Sweetin's shoulders shook. He cried like a schoolboy, trying hard to fight back the tears. "I don't know why I did it—he must have had me doped," he said Elsie told him as she clung to his hand in the Salem jail.

"I went down there on Wednesday night, Sept. 25," "Lum" Sweetin told the jury. "I wanted to do something about finding Elsie's boys a temporary home."

"As I went into the cell, I said: 'Hello there, Elsie, you didn't expect me here, did you?' and she said: 'Yes, I did. I just knew you'd come.' "I mentioned about the boys. We didn't talk about Wilford at all at first. She said she would like to have the boys put in a Masonic home. "I think I said then that what she'd done was awful to think about. And 'twas then she said she didn't know why she'd done it. She said he'd kept urging her on and giving her the arsenic."

On cross-examination Attorney Smith asked:

"Didn't she say to you, Mr. Sweetin, that Hight made her do it?"

"Well, I won't say that she didn't tell me that." Then he continued: "After she had told me all about it I said to her, 'Elsie, I feel I ought to give you some advice. Go to the courts and tell them the truth, tell them you haven't much money, tell the truth and ask for mercy.'"

Henrici Christmas Cakes

Should Be Ordered
Now --- Dearborn 1800

In many homes Henrici Marzipan, Christmas Stollen, Fruit Cake, Lebkuchen and other specialties are so inseparably associated with the Holidays that Christmas without them would not seem like the great day of good cheer that Christmases of the past have been.

At this time orders for Henrici bakery products pour in at such a rate as to tax production facilities to the very limit—and no old-time patron will need this reminder to place his order without needless delay.

But among our thousands of relatively new friends there may be some who otherwise will not think to place their orders now, that their selections may be wrapped fresh from the ovens and awaiting their call a few minutes before any designated time between now and Christmas.

A convenient time for you to make your choice from among the great variety of cakes on display each day would be when you come for luncheon this noon.

And by the way, there is in the atmosphere of Henrici's right now more of the pleasant spirit of Christmas than you are likely to find elsewhere within the Loop.

Why not Henrici's for luncheon today?

OUR TURN TO LAUGH.

Great Britain has protested against the registration with the league of nations of the treaty with Ireland which created the Irish Free State. The Free State is a member of the league. It registered the treaty under the article of the covenant requiring members to do so. That was six months ago, when the Labor government was in, and no objection was raised. The Baldwin government did not wait long to protest.

For one reason, there is the Free State-Ireland boundary dispute, one of the remaining vexatious and dangers in the relations of Ireland and Great Britain. A commission is endeavoring to draw a new line which will satisfy every one. It probably cannot be done, and a failure may strengthen the Irish Republicans. It has been said that the Free State would carry the boundary dispute into the league if dissatisfied with the results of negotiation.

The British say that the treaty which established the Free State is not and cannot be any of the league's concern, being an internal, domestic arrangement between two parts of the kingdom. The Free State retorts that the treaty is the agreement of a self-governing dominion, which as such is a league member. It is a nice dispute, viewed with interest by the other dominions which have been asserting treaty making rights.

When the league of nations was a lively and threatening question in the United States they thought that a nation which subjected itself to the covenant would either be victimized or make a hypocrite of itself in the course of time. The moment a dominant nation was confronted with a question which it intended to handle in its own way it would take its hat and walk out the nearest exit at Geneva.

Mussolini did that when the Greeks protested his seizure of Corfu. He decorated the league with a "Keep off the grass" sign. The French did it when they said they would be the interpreters of German delinquencies and of the sanctions to be taken accordingly in the Ruhr. The British did not like it, but they decided to stand for it.

The Japanese had their hats in hand when during the discussion of the protocol they served notice that if they were denied the right to make a non-aggressive war of aggression against a nation whose domestic legislation barred their emigrants they would be on their way home and the league could jump into the lake. The British intimated that the league could hang itself on a rack if it thought it had any chance of allowing the Egyptians to bring the British empire into court. Now the Irish question and the British are in a situation full of explosives.

The United States has been treated to much exhortation and reproach because it ducked this box of Pandora from the start. Many British indignities with earnestness and suavity urged that America reconsider its decisions and join up with the forces of good.

A majority of us have persisted in the conviction that we were well off outside. We have no doubt the league will tell the British that they are quite right in the present controversy. After the experiment with MacDonald and a government seeking to stop the roll of the British drum, Great Britain has gone back to first principles of empire and of a breed of pro-consuls. These principles will be in continual conflict with the moral dogmas of the league. There is no question of vital interest to Great Britain or any other competent nation, which ever will be the league's business.

ELEVATE THE GUNS.

The question of the elevation of main battery guns of the fleet remains, for us, in an official fog. We have examined the treaty and under unquestionable principles of interpretation we can see no flaw in our right to elevate. We are forbidden only to alter caliber and type of mounting, and the changes required for elevation in no reasonable sense alters either. The gun port will be enlarged and the hole will be a little lowered below its present position, so as to permit a longer swing of the barrel. If that is a change in the type of the mounting the term type will have to be redefined.

But we have most authoritative support of our view. Secretary Hughes, in his final campaign speech, said there was no objection so far as he knew to elevation. Elevation was not proceeded with, he said, solely as a matter of economy.

Yet we hear repeated report that the British government has objected. Mr. Hughes, in his New York speech, implied it had not. If there is objection now, we should like to know the grounds of it, and meanwhile we think congress should provide for elevation without fail. At present, as we have hitherto explained in detail, our fleet is badly outranged by the British fleet and perhaps by the Japanese. This is a terrific disadvantage. It would almost certainly be fatal in war. That was illustrated in advance, at Coronel and at the Falklands.

We have thirteen ships whose guns may and should be elevated. At present our deficiency in range and in speed makes the 5-5 ratio a fiction. It is said elevation would give greater range than the British fleet, but that is certainly no more a breach of the treaty intent than the present condition in which we are outranged by the British and perhaps by the Japanese. In fact, we think it would be in the long run to the advantage of the British that our range and speed should be increased, for the possibility of our fighting them is virtually nil, while the probability of our strength being used to their advantage is considerable. However, our duty to ourselves emphatically calls for elevation of the guns and for the placing of the navy in all important respects in first rate fighting condition. The navy in its first line of defense, and a first line that is not always ready is not a first line. It may be the last.

OPEN THE WEST SIDE TO THE LAKE.

Between Washington boulevard and Diversey parkway, three and one-half miles, there is no street for automobile traffic that is free from car lines.

"The result," says E. S. Taylor of the Chicago plan commission, "is that considerable traffic bound for the near north side must use Washington boulevard, passing through the loop and adding to its congestion."

Relief for the west side and outlet into the west side has become imperative with the development of the lake shore boulevard system, and the most effective relief can be obtained by a boulevard north of the river and south of Chicago avenue. Its eastern terminal should be in the vicinity of the Municipal pier. It should reach westward into the outer boulevard and forest preserve system.

A cross-town boulevard in this district would intersect the lake shore system; it would connect with the South Water street project by means of Kingsbury street; it would cross the river on a new bridge, intersect Ogden avenue and finally Western avenue.

The west side has its bottle neck full as much as the south side. A cross-town boulevard should be built to supplement overcrowded Washington and Jackson boulevards.

CAPITALIST AMERICA: COMMUNIST RUSSIA.

The final crop report for 1924, based on estimates as of Dec. 1, places the total at 47,479,902,000. This does not include minor agricultural crops, which would increase the total substantially. The total means that farmers will have something like a billion dollars more revenue this year than last, the largest in about five years.

It is interesting to compare these facts with the latest news from the communist Utopia, relayed by way of Helsinki in a cable message reporting that "with 6,000,000 Russian people facing starvation in the lower Volga regions Russia is again obliged to import American grain." The president of the Finnish state bank says that the Russian government has just ordered 20,000 tons of American rye through Finnish firms, and further large orders are expected to prevent famine in the main centers of bolshevik power like Leningrad, Moscow, and other industrial districts. What is going to be done for the people in the lower Volga we are not informed. They are not essential to the dictatorship of the proletariat so long as the latter can get funds to buy foreign grain. Perhaps we may be given the privilege of relieving their needs.

It is now seven years since the dictatorship of the proletariat has dictated all things to Russia, and the results are illuminating as to the practical value of the system. Russia is or should be one of the granaries of the world, and the bolshevik elite has contrived to rule her affairs so well that in one of the greatest food producing regions of the earth millions are on the brink of starvation. This may be a fact of no importance to the minds of our Socialist reformers, but we have a notion that the American people in general will take its meaning. The communist experiment has been tried, and, being a pragmatic people, we separate its pretenses from its results and judge it by the latter.

Our pink intellectuals have been telling us that Lenin was a great man, a great reformer, a great statesman. We think it is fair to judge a statesman or a reformer by what he accomplishes, and by that test Lenin and his associates were one of the worst groups of incompetents that ever man-handled a people. Making all due allowance for the character of the Russian people and for other less decisive disadvantages—and what creative statesman has not had to struggle with disadvantages—the bolshevik leaders have failed as disastrously as any inefficient leadership ever failed in history. Only the Asiatic fatalism and backwardness of the Russian people have made it possible for them to hold their power so long. Any democratic modern people would have turned them out within a year or two.

Editorial of the Day

WEAKENING OUR COURTS.

[Sheboygan (Wis.) Press-Telegram.]

Courts are so easily criticized that it should be the aim of the judiciary to safeguard this institution by a steadfastness that will forever preclude unjust or unfavorable comment.

We frequently hear it said that the courts are for the rich, and when we see a criminal like Leo Koretz, one of the most notorious swindlers of our time, get off with the lightest punishment possible, we are forced to admit that there are some grounds for the statement that courts show favors. Chief Justice Jacob Hopkins of the Criminal court inflicted a sentence of from one to ten years in Joliet, and under the laws of Illinois he will be eligible for parole at the end of eleven months.

Medical authorities appeared in court, stating that Koretz was not in good health, and this evidence was submitted with the idea of creating sympathy, and the court did lend a sympathetic ear. Yesterday it was our occasion to criticize the verdict of a jury; today we find similar complaint against Justice Hopkins. The maximum penalty in the Koretz case would have been thirty years, and when we think of the gigantic fraud and swindle, and the poor people who suffered as a result of his criminal activities, we cannot conceive of a judge so far forgetting his solemn duties.

Yesterday we called attention to the acquittal of four charged with murder, because, as a juror said, "They were too young to hang." We have today another farce in the sentence of Koretz. Young criminals are invited to go forth and murder and rob, advised that they are to be a guard against conviction, and now the most bold-faced swindler of this age, with not a redeeming trait of character, is let off with a sentence that will invite his freedom in eleven months.

The Leopold and Loeb sentence was the entering wedge in breaking down law and order in Chicago. The verdict of the jury in Judge Hopkins' court day before yesterday is another example where justice miscarried, and now a brazen-faced swindler, who cleaned up millions through fraud, gains sympathy at the hands of the court.

We here in Wisconsin are deeply interested in what is done in the courts of Chicago, for if criminals are created in that great center through a lack of law enforcement, then Wisconsin will eventually be one of the stamping grounds of this same element.

GROWTH OF CHILDREN.

A STUDY made by Frank of Stuttgart shows that children grow at different rates in the different months of the year. In December and January growth comes near being at a standstill. This is attributed to deficiency in certain ductless glands, especially the thyroid. The later discoveries are showing that even Trousseau and Cushing were in error, though Cushing did not think so when he wrote.

What comes out of it from the practical standpoint is this: To keep children growing and healthy through the winter months, feed them in the open air sunlight. Feed them foods that have had plenty of light. If extra precautions are necessary, give them cod liver oil. If you want to cover another possibility, give them also.

CONTAGIOUS AND INFECTIOUS.

A. W. L. writes:

1. Is infantile paralysis infectious or contagious?
2. Are the cases quarantined, or can the members of the household continue going out as usual?

REPLY.
1. The answer is yes. The words infectious and contagious are used as synonyms.

2. It is customary to quarantine the case, but to allow members of the family not in contact with the case to come and go. That, however, is a matter determined by state law or by ordinance, and these vary.

USING PHENOBARBITAL.

1. Is phenobarbital a drug?

2. Just how does it abate convulsions occurring from various sources, such as uremia, such as epilepsy, etc.?

3. Is the daily use of this remedy over a long period of time injurious in any way?

4. Is it a fact that, with the sudden cessation or cutting off of the dosage, the convulsions reappear in worse form than originally?

REPLY.

1. It is.

2. Acts as a sedative.

3. I do not think so. In my opinion, the effect of long continued use of this remedy is about the same as that of any other drug of bromide, except that the skin eruptions caused by the latter is missing. There are no reports of long experience in which I have confidence, who disagree with me on this point.

These various opinions seem very contradictory, but in all probability are

VOLUNTARY SURRENDER.

Highland Park, Mich., Dec. 14.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A tenant notifies the landlord on Oct. 27 that he will vacate a flat in two weeks and is informed that the Michigan law requires that 30 days' notice be given or paid for.

The tenant pays rent to Nov. 23, moving out Nov. 7. The flat is rented and occupied Nov. 15 by the landlord's son.

1. Is this legal? If not, what steps should be taken to get the flat back? If so, what steps should be taken to get the flat back? L. de G. F.

2. You were under no obligation to surrender possession before the expiration of the notice period, but since you voluntarily did so, you are not entitled to a refund of the rent you have paid. I am sorry to hear of your loss, but you are not entitled to a refund of the rent you have paid.

"HOPE FOR PEACE" RESTS IN POWERS' WISH FOR PEACE"

Borah Says War Policies Emaculate League.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 17.—The American people will never consent to become a part of a scheme or plan for peace which recognizes war as a legitimate method of settling disputes, or which is controlled through international politics, Senator William E. Borah declared in an address to the Philadelphia and forces upon the subject of "Out-lawry of War."

Because of his recent elevation to the position of chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and the status before that body of the question of American entry into a world court, Senator Borah's subject had aroused special interest.

Policy of Vengeance.

"To talk of leagues and courts while pursuing a deliberate policy of violence and vengeance," Senator Borah declared, "is to trifle with the greatest problem now before us for settlement." There is no hope for peace, he asserted, "so long as great powers will that there shall be no peace." He listed a number of international incidents since the world war which he said have involved "a resort to violence and force upon the part of great and powerful nations against the unarmed and helpless."

Among the incidents cited were Nicaragua, Vera Cruz, Dominican Republic, the Ruhr, Cuba and Egypt. "In all these instances," the Idaho senator said, "the aggressor nation was strong enough to have invoked compulsion, and thus have set the simple and established precedents of more value to the cause of peace than any peace plan."

Talk Peace; Act War.

"We confine our love of peace to paper, our war spirit finds its expression in deeds. We profess friendship and practice vengeance. Under such policies and practices, leagues and courts not only prove ineffective, but harm sickness and human morale is demoralized."

The Geneva protocol indicates plainly, the senator asserted, "that Europe now proposes to adjust her affairs and pursue peace plans in harmony with European standards."

JERSEY EXPERT AIDS DEFENSE IN SHEAN CHARGES

Dr. Henry A. Cotton, medical director of the New Jersey state hospital for the insane, yesterday came to the defense of Dr. Sanger Brown and his associates in the Kenilworth sanitarium. The latter were sued for $200,000 on Tuesday by James B. Sheehan, former general counsel for the Northwestern railroad, who alleged he had been mistreated at the Kenilworth institution.

After leaving Dr. Brown's institution, Mr. Sheehan placed himself for four months in the care of Dr. Cotton and since then has been reporting three times a week to his new physician.

Dr. Cotton said he had conferred with Dr. Brown and was convinced Mr. Sheehan was more seriously ill than he realized when a patient at Kenilworth. The New Jersey specialist said he had done his utmost to persuade Mr. Sheehan not to bring suit. Dr. Cotton added that Mr. Sheehan is now greatly improved.

SUICIDE TENTH DEATH TO TRAIL FATAL MILLION

Death which has trailed litigants for the last seven years in connection with the famous A. B. Brinkerhoff $1,000,000 estate, yesterday took its tenth victim when Attorney Thomas S. Hunter of Elgin, bankruptcy referee for northern Illinois, shot himself to death.

Hunter, principal beneficiary under the Brinkerhoff will, but unable to realize on it because of probate tangle, in many states, was said to have worried over the estate, although wealthy in his own name. He leaves a widow and a son.

One after the other, judges, lawyers, and beneficiaries in the will tangle have died during the seven year wait for settlement.

Radio Delights Elmer Almost Until Dawn

And He Tells Why He Was Delighted.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

If you either are an early bird or a night owl, the arising or retiring hour being the determining factor, you may have heard W-G-N putting one of those impromptu station testing programs. This occurred between 2 and 4 this a. m. "Open house" is the describing word. If you listen clear through to the final "good night" it is a good indication that you are a real radio listener.

It is hard to resist the temptation to mention KDKA's 6 o'clock concert, which was arranged for rebroadcasting in England and the continent. This station comes in so strongly that I frequently have been tempted to suggest that owners of inexpensive sets try picking up KDKA in the early evening.

Now we will plunge headlong into the thick of a busy and very musical hour or so following 8 o'clock:

First, there was a solid hour of real music at KTW. Helen Bickerton Cole, soprano, and Lucille Long, contralto, both exceptionally good, in duets and solos. One of the solos by Miss Long, "As I Went a-Roaming" (Brahms), merits greater acquaintance, for it is charming to a degree, and it was beautifully sung. Thomas B. Stephenson, a tenor whom it is a delight to hear, gave a group of old time songs—always enjoyed, but particularly timely at this holiday season.

The radio audience being already introduced, so to speak, to the A. Cappella choir of Northwestern university, it was almost with a spirit of reverence that I turned to WMAQ at 8:35 for their program of Christmas carols, ancient French and modern, including two Latin motets by Palestrina. Mature singers, these, and evidently approaching their task in a spirit of reverence.

Too much cannot be said in behalf of those artists for that fine concert. At the same moments, a similar concert was being given by the Treble Clef Club of the Community High school of Winnetka, Ill., on the Lyon & Healy W-G-N program. There were thirty-six girls in this chorus, and being still in their teens, their voices could not quite strike the deeper notes. But what a training and experience this for them to remember! Spirituals and semi-sacred solos were sung by John Minnema, tenor, and director of the club.

RADIO PROGRAMS FOR TODAY

(Thursday, Dec. 18.) (Central standard time throughout.)

Tonight is another "Line Night" at W-G-N. The CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel. Dick Little (R. H. L.) is to assemble another group of familiar contributors in the studio at 8 o'clock for a full hour program of poetry, epigrams, and witty observations.

A special quarter of an hour of music of old Spain and the Argentine will be staged at 4:45 this afternoon by Addison Fowler and Florens Troubadours, who are appearing this week at Balaban & Katz Chicago theater. After a concert by the Troubadours whose instruments consist of guitars, flutes, mandolins, and violin. Mr. Fowler and Miss Tamara will give a three minute lesson in the proper manner of performing the Argentine tango.

A Kennedy four tube set with built-in loud speaker is to be given by Lyon & Healy for the best written program of one hour of organ music submitted by radio listeners. The program will be broadcast at 4 p. m. on Christmas day. Each program submitted must be accompanied by a letter not exceeding 300 words, justifying the number selected, and addressed to Edwin Stanley Seder, Lyon & Healy, Chicago.

Uncle Walt will continue reading the original stories written by his children, listeners during Skeezix this evening.

Don Bastor's Drake hotel orchestra. R. G. Ball, Jack Ball, Jack Little, and Paul Small will be heard during the Jazz Scamper between 10 and 11 tonight.

WILBUR PUSHES PLUG AT LEAKS IN NAVY SECRETS

Who Published Letters?
Subject of Inquiry.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—Determined to put a stop to leakage of confidential information that might be of assistance to foreign powers, Secretary of Navy Wilbur today called a special board of inquiry and ordered it to investigate the source of confidential information which has recently been quoted in the newspapers by William Shearer, civilian naval expert.

This hearing, which is to be held closed doors in New York City, will begin immediately. Officers of the court already have been named and assigned the task of finding out which of two naval captains is responsible for publication of a letter sent from the naval war college at Newport, R. I.

Written by Admiral's Son.
This letter, according to Secretary Wilbur, was written and sent by Capt. Hugo W. Osterhaus, son of Admiral Osterhaus, retired, and now a student at the naval war college, to Capt. R. I. Berry, head of the navy recruiting station at New York.

The secretary said the matter had been privately investigated and the responsibility fixed, but he refused to name the guilty officer or to give out the contents of the letter. He did say, however, that it was one of two letters quoted recently in the newspapers.

Not Muzzling Order.
Secretary Wilbur denied that calling of the special court meant a general muzzling of naval officers. Capt. O. P. Jackson, commander of the naval training station at Newport, heads the four officers who will sit in the court. The others are Capt. A. M. Proctor, Capt. G. P. Stone, and Lieut. Commander S. S. Lewis.

Raid Cicero Roadhouse, Seize Gaming Devices

The new roulette wheels and other paraphernalia were seized. The raid was the squad's eighth in ten days and raised the total of prisoners to 167.

ALBANIA REVOLT MAY TOUCH OFF NEW WAR SPARK

Powers Keep Eyes on Adriatic Row.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, Dec. 17.—The British and all other foreign offices of Europe are watching the so called revolt in Albania closely because it contains germs of trouble which may involve some of the greater powers. The revolt is being run by Ahmed Zogu, former chief of state, who was turned out and exiled by the present premier, Mgr. Fannoli, but it is believed here that he is being financed and aided by the Serbians.

It is certain that the first attack was made from Serbian soil and Premier Fannoli alleges that it was made by Jugo-Slav regular troops disguised as irregulars.
If it was only a matter which concerned the small and partly civilized country of Albania no one would care very much, but the alleged revolt is seen by the powers as an attempt by Serbia to secure possession of the country and its fine ports on the Adriatic. Possession of these ports would make Serbia a dangerous rival for Italy in control of the Adriatic and it is not likely that Italy would be quiet and see Albania governed by her Slav rival.

Italy Sends Warships.
ROME, Dec. 17.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Italian government is sending two warships to Albanian waters immediately in view of possible complications arising out of the recent troubles there.
Jugo-Slavia affecting the independence of Albania is without foundation. It is semi-officially announced that a report alleging that agreements have been entered into between Italy and Italy may interfere.

PARIS, Dec. 17.—French interest in the Albanian trouble is chiefly due to a belief that Italy will interfere if regular Jugo-Slav troops are proven to have crossed the frontier.
The Rome government has already warned Belgrade that it would not permit any alteration in the existing boundary of Albania and Premier Mussolini is reported to be awaiting an opportunity to seize Durazzo and Valona, thus permitting the dictator to realize the Italian dream of making the Adriatic an Italian lake, which was balked two years ago when the Corfu occupation was called off.

Oil interests are believed to be at the bottom of the difficulties between Albania and Jugo-Slavia, as the disputed region is reported to contain traces of oil deposits and American and English syndicates are attempting to obtain the leases.

Zogu Leads Rebels.
ROME, Dec. 17.—Passengers from Albania landing at Bari today stated that while the original reports were greatly exaggerated the situation in that country is serious. They confirmed the fact that Ahmed Zogu, former premier, who was exiled, is making a desperate effort to overturn the government of Premier Fannoli.

The Radio - an electrical instrument

LEGAL advice? You'd see a lawyer. Medical advice? A Doctor. Radio advice? Now just where would you go for reliable radio advice? We believe that Electric Shops offer the logical answer. . . . The radio is an electrical instrument. Those who best know radio must have a knowledge of electricity.

Radio is more than music—more than a reproduction of the human voice—more than entertainment. These things are results. How well these results are transmitted depends upon the efficiency of your radio equipment. Radio is electrical energy. Our business is founded on the use of electrical energy. The one thing we know best is electricity and its application.

Our radio department is in charge of electrical and radio engineers. When you ask a question about radio at Electric Shops, you receive an intelligent answer, an answer you can depend upon. When you buy a radio here, you can know it has been tested and studied by responsible radio engineers before being approved for sale at Electric Shops. Manufacturers of musical instruments, proficient as they are in their own line, do not attempt the manufacture of radio sets, for they realize that successful radio requires highly specialized knowledge. True, they do make radio cabinets, but not the "working parts". . . . The sale of radio—the dispensing of reliable radio advice—is as much a specialty as radio manufacture.

Feel free to take full advantage of our radio service. Come in—talk with one of our radio engineers—he will gladly help you select the set or equipment best suited to your particular needs.

If you want to be sure your radio experience will be satisfactory, come to Electric Shops. By appointment, we make radio installations at your convenience.

WE SPECIALIZE IN

A Puzzle a Day Keeps Cross Words Away

Quinticruciform.

If you solve this without any difficulty at all you can flatter yourself that you're getting deft at cross words, for it isn't in the primer class. It doesn't present impossible difficulties, however. Ready? Go!

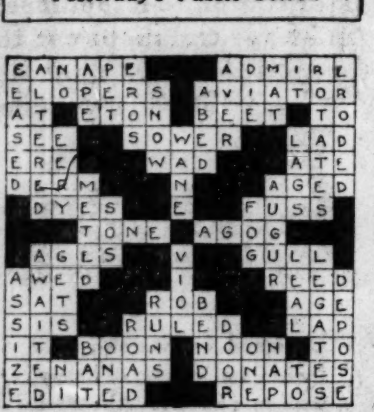

HOW TO SOLVE IT.

The white squares of the puzzle are to be filled in with words that read horizontally and vertically. The definitions below refer to the corresponding numbers in the diagram, which designate the squares on which the word to be supplied begins. Only words from standard dictionaries are used.

F. W. BURLINGHAM DIES; FUNERAL HELD TOMORROW

Attorney Frederick Wright Burlingham, 65 years old, former president of the Associated Harvard Clubs of the World, and for many years prominent here in civic, philanthropic and business affairs, died yesterday in his Winnetka home. Most recently Mr. Burlingham had been an insurance counsel. His widow, two daughters, Susan and Barbara, sister Mrs. William C. Boyden, and brother, Charles L., survive.

Graduated from Harvard Law school in 1894, Mr. Burlingham shortly started practicing here. He was former president of the Harvard club of Chicago, and a director in the City association and the Allendale Home for Boys. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Winnetka Congregational church.

POULTRY FARM MEN PROTEST EAST'S EMBARGO

Telegrams from New York City indicate that there is a complete stop in the world's largest poultry market, according to Harrison F. Jones, executive secretary of the National Poultry, Butter, and Eggs association, with headquarters in Chicago.

This chaotic condition is the result of the recent embargo against shipment of live chickens into New York City from the poultry raising district of the Midwest, following the discovery of a "mysterious disease."

In a statement issued from the association's headquarters here last night, Mr. Jones said:

"Eastern poultry embargoes are not justified. The embargoes against the shipment of live hens, roosters, capons, and chickens from the states of Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, and the Dakotas into eastern states appears to be the result of a lack of proper understanding of the general condition on the part of public health officials, according to investigations."

Ex-Gov. Campbell Dead; Long a Leader in Ohio

Columbus, O., Dec. 17.—Former Gov. James E. Campbell of Ohio, aged 81, died suddenly at his home here tonight. He was stricken with heart trouble shortly after returning from a testimonial dinner for Ex-United States Judge John E. Sater, where Mr. Campbell had delivered an address.

While his death was generally unexpected it was no surprise to members of his household. Signs of failing health had been evident, they said, since he attended the National Democratic convention in New York last summer. He was a prominent and admired figure in that convention, being head of his delegation. He had served in Congress three successive times from three different Ohio districts. He was elected governor of Ohio in 1889.

Mr. Campbell was born in Ohio in 1843. He was a member of the Ohio State Bar Association and the American Bar Association. He was also a member of the Ohio Historical Society and the Ohio Archaeological Society.

Mr. Campbell was married to Mrs. Mary Campbell. They had three children: a son, James E. Campbell, Jr., and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Campbell and Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell.

Mr. Campbell was a member of the Ohio State Bar Association and the American Bar Association. He was also a member of the Ohio Historical Society and the Ohio Archaeological Society.

DRAINAGE BOARD ASKS: WHAT OF OUR 12 MILLION?

Suit Threatens to Waste That Amount.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A suit by the federal government is now pending in the United States supreme court to prevent the full use of the Chicago drainage canal by limiting the amount of water which may be diverted into it from Lake Michigan.

If the government wins, what of the expenditures of more than $12,000,000 by Chicago to improve navigation in the Chicago river?

On Jan. 17, 1909, the main channel of the canal was placed in operation. It began at Robey street in Chicago and ran twenty-eight miles to Lockport. It was 160 feet wide in the rock section and 24 feet deep with a flowage capacity of 10,000 cubic feet per second. The cost of construction was $29,691,239.99.

What U. S. Demanded.

Then came the government and said: "There is nothing doing on using that canal unless you of Chicago widen, deepen, remove the center pier bridges in the Chicago river, and take minor links out of the banks." The government declared that work was imperative for navigation. The sanitary district and the state replied they agreed and would comply with those requirements. On that job has been spent more than $12,000,000.

At that time the Chicago river, at some places, was only 80 feet wide and not more than 17 feet deep. To widen the river the sanitary district was forced to buy land on both banks. In one case it was necessary to take a power house of the elevated roads and in another a strip of the right of way of the Pennsylvania railroad. To get the necessary width the district spent $4,155,156.72 for land. Then came the digging out of the extra land width and the dredging of the old river bed and the construction of bypasses. On these constructions alone between Adams and Van Buren streets $538,800.86 was spent. For dredging and digging $2,122,407.68 more was spent.

District Does Its Part.

The sanitary district proceeded diligently to create a 300 foot width and a 24 foot depth, in order to provide a channel with a flowage capacity of 10,000 cubic feet a second, with a current not to exceed one and one-quarter miles an hour. That was what the government wanted. In fact, when vessel owners complained, shortly after the canal was opened and before much improvement of the river had been made, the federal government reduced the flow from the lake. The effect of that was to spur the district to widen and deepen the river.

Of course, a bridge that would only span a river 80 feet wide wouldn't stretch across a river 300 feet wide. That required action by the district, even if the government had not objected to center pier bridges as obstructions to navigation.

Cost of Bridges.

Therefore, the sanitary district spent an enormous sum to rebuild bridges, construct new ones, and to improve others, as follows:

Bridge	Expenditure
State street	$215,394.74
Dearborn street	$43,719.18
Randolph street	$76,792.23
Jackson boulevard	$29,486.92
Harrison street	$44,123.88
Van Buren street	$7,893.66
Polk street	$2,048.53
Taylor street	$12,456.74
Twelfth street	$25,379.79
Thirteenth street	$21,381.90
Canal street	$29,486.92
Twenty-second street	$90,784.59
Thirteenth street	$97,879.28
Loomis street	$48,676.82
Abraham street	$17,783.41
Other bridges	$2,654.59
Total	$3,459,513.72

This total added to others recited brings the aggregate to $12,458,858.89 spent on improving the south branch of the Chicago river, primarily for the benefit of navigation. Ordinarily that is considered a function within the jurisdiction of the federal government.

Naturally there are exceptions to this general rule. "Sometimes a state or a city desires the improvement of navigable waters before the federal government deems the improvement advisable. In such cases cities and states have rushed ahead and spent the cash to make the improvements."

No Question of Canal Need.

But in the case of Chicago the government not only was acquainted with what the sanitary district was doing and approved of it but the federal government practically forced the district to make the improvements in order to get full benefit from the expenditure of $28,000,000 in the construction of the drainage canal.

There was no question about the necessity of that canal at the time to curtail typhoid in Chicago. The son of the federal engineer in Chicago died of typhoid. While he questioned the flowage in his official capacity as a representative of the government, he wrote, in his official report on the subject: "Individually, I have to say that I am in entire sympathy with the people in their efforts to purify their water supply. I have lost my only son from drinking water produced, I believe, from drinking water polluted by defective drainage at Chicago, which this canal will correct."

That can be found in the report of April 24, 1899, of Gen. Marshall, United States district engineer at Chicago.

KILLED BY ELEVATOR.

Edward Italian, an electrical foreman, 5747 West Erie street, was killed yesterday when crushed by a descending elevator in a building under construction at 510 Wellington street.

MAYOR OUTWITS GUNMAN CAPTOR SEEKING MONEY

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—Quick thinking and coolness probably saved the life of Mayor George Cryer of Los Angeles last night, when for three hours he threatened his wife against the determination of a desperate gunman who threatened him with a revolver pressed against his forehead while he demanded $5,000.

For three hours the mayor stood off the man, pleading inability to get money late at night. The man finally agreed to leave after Mayor Cryer told him the money would be ready at his office today.

The story was made public today when the man called for the money and was arrested. He gave the name of Benjamin A. Critchlow, former chiropractor and now a hospital nurse. Critchlow obtained entrance to the mayor's home by representing himself as a federal secret service agent on government business and making an appointment by telephone, the mayor said.

$1,000,000 GEM THEFT TRACED TO DEAD CHICAGOAN

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, Dec. 17.—An amazing tale of one of the most unusual burglaries ever recorded.

was told by the London Evening News today in clearing up the mystery of the return of the owners of a jewel valued at more than $1,000,000, which were stolen last June from the famous antique collection of the late Julius C. Wernher, a South African diamond king.

According to the Evening News a Chicago millionaire jewel collector, overcome by a passion to possess certain parts of the Wernher collection, hired American master crackmen at huge fees to steal the desired gems, ornaments, and works of art.

The burglars were successful on June 11 and they rushed their loot to New York, whence they telephoned the palatial Chicago home of their boss. A butler who answered the telephone told the thieves the millionaire had died less than an hour before.

The crooks were unable to dispose of their treasures, which were known to every collector in the world, so finally yesterday through a New York lawyer they told Scotland Yard where to find the goods. Sir Charles Russell, lawyer for Lady Ludlow Wernher's first wife, today verified the report that the missing jewels had been traced through Scotland Yard.

The story of the Chicago Millionaire's burglary plot surpasses the wildest Oppenheim novel. The Chicago collector, who was the owner of priceless antiques and the author of authoritative books on the world's best jewel collections, visited England and Scotland last April. He spent days in fascinated study of the Wernher collection in the famous "red room" of Bath House in Piccadilly, to which Lady Ludlow freely invited connoisseurs from all parts of the world.

Lady Ludlow declined to sell a single jewel, despite fabulous sums offered by the American visitor. The Chicagoan returned home keenly disappointed. Although he knew that he would never be able to display such well known treasures, he was determined to own them just to look at himself. He combed the United States for three talented burglars, all of whom were recognized by the police as masters of their trade.

They received $50,000 for the first payment, with a promise of $250,000 more, with lavish expenses, if they were successful. The Chicagoan gave the crooks intimate details of the layout of the land at Bath house.

NEWLY NAMED TOWN TO GET NEW R. R. SERVICE

Waukegan, Ill., Dec. 17.—[Special.]—With the changing of the town's name from Area to Mundelein comes the word that the Soo Line is planning to run a double track from the newly named town to Wheeling. This will provide double track from Chicago and will give complete suburban service to Mundelein. In addition the road will build a depot in keeping with the seminary buildings.

The double track system is now in use from Chicago to Wheeling, but until now there has been no intimation on the part of the railroad that it would extend itself to provide better suburban service.

This boy was ready for his chance

Take a good look at Peter. He is the kind of a boy who always wins in whatever he undertakes to do. When a golden opportunity is offered to him he is ready to grasp it. Today he is fourteen years old, president of his class, and one of those boys to whom the school looks for leadership in all its activities—whether tennis, baseball or the debating society. Peter is not a little bookworm—he is an all 'round boy, two years ahead of most boys of his age. He has learned how to think for himself. Peter's mother, Mrs. Jasmine Stone Van Dresser, says:

"As soon as he could read Peter began reading The Book of Knowledge. During the important formative period of his life he 'gobbled up' the simple, delightful explanations contained in them of the natural phenomena about us, and when a little mind is filled with wonderful thoughts like these, there is no room for things that should not be there. We gave Peter

We are telling the readers of The Tribune a true story. We prevailed on Peter's mother, Mrs. Van Dresser, to let us tell you about her son. Would you like to see how Peter began, what it was he found when he first dipped into The Book of Knowledge, how the thousand and one questions buzzing through his eager brain, about trains and airplanes, stars and birds and animals, all the questions an active mind could bring up, were answered in a way that led him to the genuine success that is his? The kind of pictures Peter saw; the clear, simple explanations Peter read, you will find in an interesting 42-page book that contains pictures and stories from The Book of Knowledge. Every reader of The Tribune is welcome to a copy. If you have a child you cannot fail to be interested in Peter and what The Book of Knowledge has done for him. You owe it to your child to find out. So mail the coupon and receive, with our compliments, the Free Book.

"What Peter read supplemented his school work as he grew older; and when he was twelve years old I realized what he had been getting from these books.

"He then had a chance to win a scholarship. I held my breath while Peter took the tests. He passed.

"No boy who delved as Peter had in the pages of The Book of Knowledge could have failed. The questions and discussions of the test interested him; they did not frighten him. Good habits of thought had been formed. He had a vast fund of information, considerable knowledge of literature and was sure of what he knew.

"Busy as Peter is, he will go to the bookcase whenever he has a spare moment, slip out a Book of Knowledge, find a cozy corner, or sprawl on the floor on his stomach, and is lost to the world. Peter's parents know how much he owes to The Book of Knowledge habit."

SHANGHAI, Dec. 17.—In the first public address ever broadcast in the far east, Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, United States minister to China, tonight declared that the American policy towards China was one of sympathy and friendship.

"America desires no territory or special concessions in China," Dr. Schurman said. "She desires to see China mistress in her own household."

"The rights of the American government and people demand respect for the treaties which must not be violated as long as they remain unmodified and neither China nor any other country can be a member of the family of nations unless its treaties are respected and enforced."

which was widely published in the Japanese press, that America had supported Gen. Wu Pei-fu, Chihli war lord ousted as the leading figure of China in the last civil war.

The minister devoted considerable attention to the work of the Washington conference and said America was ready to put the conference's actions into force as soon as France has ratified the treaties.

An ideal gift is the small KIMBALL Grand, at $885. The larger Grands, at $1,050 and up, have long been favorite Christmas remembrances.

A KIMBALL Player is a most welcome offering, for it enables any one, without previous study, to express himself in glorious melody. KIMBALL Uprights offer a wide selection, and are highly prized as holiday tokens. The KIMBALL Phonograph that reproduces to perfection a single voice or a whole orchestra offers a broad choice of console and upright models. Prices, $100, $125, $150, and up.

And, if you have once heard the wonderful KIMBALL Reproducing Grand, you know what a superb holiday offering you can make, with the playing of great musicians brought to life at the home fireside.

Then there is an impressive variety of De Luxe Welte-Mignon Rolls for Reproducing Pianos—truly delightful gifts; also Columbia Records and Player Rolls—Rolls with Words, Dance Music, etc.

The Pool The Fish The Catch

THROUGHOUT the United States 15% of the people own motor cars. In Greater New York the ownership is approximately 5%.

This low percentage in New York is not attributed to the cost of car purchase but to the expense of storage and operation.

For it costs as much to operate and store the average car in New York, each year, as its initial cost.

Automobile sales in New York are confined to people who can afford to pay, not only for the car, but the heavy charges for storage and operation. Garage rent in New York is greater than home rent in many smaller cities.

The way to catch fish is to fish. But to make a "good catch," fishing in the great New York pool must be done intelligently.

The Evening Post is the only newspaper of general circulation in New York selling at 5c a copy. Its circulation includes financial, industrial and social leaders, people who buy CARS.

A wise fisherman doesn't go to a stream because it is large but to the stream that he knows has fish in it.

The discerning advertiser does not look at newspaper circulation from a numerical standpoint but from the point of view of its effectiveness.

The Evening Post offers to automobile advertisers a selected readership of influential people whose confidence in its editorial and news columns is equalled only by their confidence in its advertising.

Pajamas of Silk Cheviot.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondent.]
[Once]—There are two reasons that I don't keep one from wearing silk pajamas. First, I don't look like a silk snail, and, second, that they cost like silk. The first reason need not trouble you, if you get one of the new pajamas I saw in a shop the other day. They were of a new silk cheviot, a roughness that gives the material a texture that give it a casual glance it does not hint you in the eye as a bright and shiny bit of clothing. But it has the soft, fleecy texture of the virtue of the product of the silkworm.

It may not look like silk, but it almost costs like it. Such pajamas, I think, are the only thing that the average man rushes in to buy for himself without giving the matter a bit of thought. They're the only thing that a man can get a pair of pajamas of such material, because the stuff looks as though it would wear as neat like iron as any other material.

WEDDING—ENGAGEMENT

Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Murphy of 6455 Wayne avenue, to Leonard Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Steele of 537 Forth avenue, Evanston, took place yesterday afternoon at St. Ignatius' church and was followed by a wedding breakfast at the Sovereign hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Steele will be at home in Evanston after passing the winter in Florida.

FOES OF HOBO KINGDOM MASS FOR BIG DRIVE

Three hundred inmates of the Hobo Kingdom, 1801 Grand boulevard, and Dr. Ben Reisman, today face eviction by court order on a landlord's process for repossession. Neighbors of the hobo hotel are responsible, Dr. Reisman asserts, for a list of complaints that would make the hobo stipulations look like a first grade reader.

Thirteen days after the effect of the broad highway helped Dr. Reisman christen his latest venture for the uplift and bodily comfort of the hobo fraternity, the neighbors of Hobo Kingdom, represented by A. R. R. Jackson of the Third ward, arose on Monday morning and declared war against the 300 men who nightly seek food and sleep at the kingdom.

"It's got to go," was their dictum. "It's a disgrace to the neighborhood and besides, it hurts property values."

First gun was fired against Dr. Reisman yesterday morning in Judge Spencer's court when he was assigned on a charge of conducting a disorderly house. Continued until Dec. 21.

The next comes this morning in Judge Hayes' court when the landlord of the tramp heaven will seek repossession of his property.

Later this week, the mortgage holder served notice, every stick of furniture in the place will be sold at auction.

The police department is making hourly "inspections," illy conducive to sweet slumber by the bearded inmates.

Then the fire department has ordered immediate installation of a fire escape.

Comes the health department next with demands for a general cleanup. Mulligan stew over a wood fire under a railroad bridge is all right, they admit, and there must be a place in the social cosmos for the great unwashed, but it's not the thing for 300 Grand boulevard.

THE SALESMAN WHO will be interested in this message is one who is now doing a successful sales job and who is getting out of it, in income, all that is possible; who, preferably, is under 35 years of age; who has had considerable experience in selling to department stores; who understands resale methods and the development of definite sales and advertising plans; and who is now looking for a larger field in which to express his ability and reap the reward of a materially larger return.

For such a salesman we offer an opportunity to handle an excellent piece of merchandise, widely advertised and thoroughly supported in every detail of selling and advertising; salary and expense allowance with a substantial commission.

For a personal appointment and particulars, Address care of G H 105, Tribune, giving telephone number.

Considerable strength and a sharp advance in prices followed yesterday's cattle trade, with many beef steers as much as $1.00 higher than Monday and some nearer $1.50 above low time last week. A third fewer cattle at Chicago than first half of last week, the New York embargo on all poultry shipments from eight midwestern states owing to a mysterious contagious disease, all tended to help the market for live cattle.

A New York steer topped yesterday's market, paying $11.50 for a lot of 1,125 lb steers and best heavy weights averaging 1,612 lbs also went for shipment alive at $10.65, with 1,555 lb steers at $10.35. Outside competition partly on account of next week's holiday was more active than usual. Native butcher stock met with a good call selling on a strong to 50c higher basis. Calves sold to better advantage with shippers good buyers. Feeding cattle sold fully steady.

Brisk local competition helped the trade, prices advancing 10¢ to 20¢, with heavy weights showing most gain. Highest bid prices of the season was a strengthening factor. Receipts at 40,000 about reached expectations, with 54,000 expected today, against 72,764 previous Thursday. Several loads averaging 2900 lbs sold at $10.60, being within 5¢ of high point since Nov. 4. Closing trade was generally strong with many held off the market. Day's average advanced 30¢ to $9.20, against $9.15 a week ago, and $8.90 a year ago. Quality graded fairly good.

Sheep Receipts Increased. Steaming lamb prices earlier in the week attracted a big run of ovine stock to market, with the week's total sheep receipts promising to pass 90,000, second largest in a month. Market reacted under pressure of heavier supplies, yesterday's additional losses of 10¢ to 20¢ after a steady opening bringing quotations largely up into initial half of the week. Early top to shippers reached $12.50, with bulk of good kinds at $11.50@12.00. Feeding lambs at $11.75, late Tuesday, established a new high mark for the season in the feeder division. Best aged ewes held steady with the recent decline, while others lowered 10¢ to 20¢. Choice 52 wethers reached $12.50, with good freshly shorn lambs at the same price. First Colorado lambs of the season arrived yesterday and sold at $14.00, against $13.00 for initial band of 12, 1923. Seven western markets received 31,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 28,000 sheep, against 25,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 25,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 40,000 hogs, and 19,000 sheep, against 10,256 cattle, 45,618 hogs, and 12,544 sheep, the corresponding Thursday a year ago. ## COTTON MARKET

Directors of the Chicago Cotton Clearing corporation announce that the corporation will be opened for business on Jan. 6, 1925. Sheets of clearing members should be delivered to the clearing house as of the close of Jan. 3. Stock subscriptions to the clearance fund can be handed to members of the committee, of which Joseph Lami is head.

Cotton prices advanced and closed at gain of 15 to 20 points 17 Chicago, 22 to 23 points in New York, and 26 to 50 points in New Orleans. Southern spot markets were stronger and demand was better. Liverpool closed 16 to 18 higher. Prices in leading markets follow:

$500,000 FLATS FOR GLENLAKE AND WINTHROP

BY AL CHASE.

BY AL CHASE.

Work is to start at once on a $500,000, seventy-two hotel type apartment building at the southwest corner of Winthrop and Glenlake, by Attorney Joseph Rosenberg, who bought the 10710 1/2 site from Martha A. Ure and Nancy M. McClain for an indicated $37,000.

Thomas Bishop has assigned a building with, large lobby, tearooms, and one, two, and three room apartments and a restaurant. The building will have elevator service. Completion date is set for some time in July.

The Pinkerton estate has sold the first story 62x90 Pinkerton building at 1310 South Wells to Jacob Glidwitz for a reported $150,000, through Geltner & Gelter.

Chicagoans Buy St. Louis Hotel.

Confirmation comes from St. Louis of the report current two weeks ago but denied at the time by the Chicagoans involved, that the Chase hotel in that city has been bought by local men. The Lindell Hotel company building has taken title and is composed of E. B. Woolf of E. B. Woolf & Co., realtors, president; George T. Thompson and Frederic C. Stillman.

tery presidents and they are all men, all of Chicago.

The Chase has 500 rooms and is one of the finest apartment hotels in the country. Schmiedel, Berlin, Laumann & Levine were attorneys.

The stores, offices and flats at the southeast corner of Grace and Racine have been sold by Max Aram and others to W. C. Tackett & Nelson for a reported $35,000, subject to $75,000. John L. McSweeney of the Shapley Brothers Realty company, and George D. DeToe were brokers.

Claremont-Wilson Corner Sold.

The twenty four flats at the northeast corner of Claremont and Wilson have been sold by W. C. Tackett to Nelson T. Jones for a reported $115,000, subject to $145,000. Tackett & Edwards were brokers.

The northwest corner of Kedzie and Douglas, eight stores and two flats, has been bought by Ida Westlund, sold to her by Isaac S. Greenberg for a reported $31,500, subject to $55,000. Charles B. Johnson and Abraham Maschner were attorneys.

David S. Cohen recently bought the three stores, two offices and three flats at the southwest corner of 63d and Morrison for a reported $145,000. Shadlin sold them to Jacob Horn for a reported $35,000, subject to $41,000. Denbo, Getz & Martenson were brokers.

PERE MARQUETTE GIVES APPROVAL TO RAIL MERGER

BY O. A. MATHER.

The $1,000,000 Nickel Plate merger, the largest railroad consolidation in many years, was assured yesterday. The executive committee of the Pere Marquette approved the basic terms of a lease whereby the road will enter the Van Sweringen system. Adoption of the lease by the directors was recommended. The decision of the Pere Marquette followed similar action by the Erie last week. The merger will combine the Nickel Plate and the Erie and the Hocking Valley, which are the other component parts of the greater Nickel Plate system, are controlled by the Van Sweringens and are expected to assist in the terms of consolidation in the near future. Majority of stockholders of all roads has agreed to accept the decisions of the directors.

As per the plan is declared, the merger is intended to bring the annual dividends on the new Nickel Plate preferred and common stocks. The terms of the merger are expected to be approved by the stockholders of the Nickel Plate and the Erie and the Hocking Valley, which are the other component parts of the greater Nickel Plate system, are controlled by the Van Sweringens and are expected to assist in the terms of consolidation in the near future. Majority of stockholders of all roads has agreed to accept the decisions of the directors.

Similar terms were incorporated in the lease contract with all the other component parts of the greater Nickel Plate system, which will continue to exist as a holding company, turning over the operating properties to the new system.

The midwest reports on the steel trade's progress show the industry to be producing now at 80 per cent of capacity, a rate not reached since the downward turn of activity grew emphatic in early April. This present rate is still 10 per cent under that of last March and 11 per cent under that in the spring of 1923. It compares with an active capacity of nearly 60 per cent last October, with 45 per cent in August and with 40 or less in July. It exceeds the rate of twelve months ago for the first time in the current year. This happens at a time of year when steel production usually slows down.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HEN
Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—[Special.]—Debate on the navy apportion bill in the house this afternoon was enlivened by a couple of over the state of our relation Japan.

Representative Albert J.
[Rep., Wash.], chairman of the gration committee and one of the sors of the Japanese exclusion bill nounced Representative Fred A.
[Rep., Ill.] for proposing a voice of the white peoples of the cific to consider the common against Japan and absolved Jaany hostile intent. Mr.
[Rep., Wash.] was taking an unprecedented step to cultivate good feeling toward the United States. In his statement he expressed his regret at the appointment of Matsumura as Japanese ambassador to the United States.

Warm Fridge for Matsumura
Not only is Mr. Matsumura, a one of most distinguished services in Japan has paid us a signal selecting as her ambassador post a man who through himself represents two of the most important historically famous families in Japan," said Mr. Hughes.
"We are convinced that we can look forward to the most cordial relation with Japan and that these relations will be facilitated by the visit of Mr. Matsumura."

Two members of the cabinet to express the opinion that reports of Japan preparing for the United States are burdened with no question
pending between Japan America today, whereas there troubles between the United and almost all other powers.

Sees Trouble in Resolution Representative Johnson said sought to dissuade Representative Britten from introducing the resolution authorizing the conference of the white races during the Pacific. He said it was "simply provocative of trouble cannot come to any good."

"It will not be recognized committee on foreign affairs be misunderstood by the people the Pacific ocean," he said.
the floor because as chairman immigration committee I have thing to do with the perfecting exclusion law, and I might summed to be in hearty accord resolution. It is not so. The gration incident has passed. It are normal with Japan. The men have said so. Trade is as usual. We are now the summers Japan has.

Regrets Britten's Speech
"To attempt to influence members of the house by an emotional, exciting, and war statement, such as that printed this morning, apparently in the members of the Pacific states representatives of the chamber commerce of those great cities (Seattle, Tacoma, San and Los Angeles), is to do so beyond my comprehension. I it was done. You will never relationships or strengthen your paying any attention to such things."

At this point Representative
Britten [Rep., Wash.] interrupted that all members from Pacific so far as he had heard them themselves, concurred with Representative Watkins [Rep., Iowa] added that an effort was made that members last night resent the introduction of the resolution.

Congressman Explains
"The secretary of the navy highest ranking naval officer service," Mr. Britten said. "Japan is making great military movements, and I assume that the activities of Japan's navy must be directed against us any objection to America's name thing?"

"Japan, it has been suggested, is in the neighborhood of the Philippines—our territory. I object to any suggestion where may not hold our maneuvers none of their business. The islands belong to us, and if million of these maneuvers Australia to pay a kindly visit, that is also our
